'It's a pleasant jaunt that mixes nostalgia for the age of exploration with the odd dash of social commentary.'

-The Guardian

'A good old seafaring jaunt buoyed up with plenty of humour, Smith's novel is a riot.'

-The Irish Times

'...inventive and heart-warming.'

-The Irish Independent

ABOUT THIS BOOK

'-- Lace up your stoutest boots and pack your warmest underwear -- we're all off to the bloody Arctic!'

It is Dublin in the spring of 1916: while war rages across Europe and rebellion threatens the Irish capital, three young College friends embark on a foolhardy seafaring mission to find the lost skeleton of an Irish giant. With mishaps, mischief, and a little romance, their voyage is a hilarious odyssey round the edges of history and into a curious, wonderful adventure that will change their lives forever. Ernest Shackleton meets P.G.Wodehouse in this heart-warming tale of three men in a ship (to say nothing of the dog, a foul-mouthed Scotsman and an iguana...)
