ALL OR NOTHING AT ALL

Foreword by Kilian Jornet

All or Nothing At All is the life story of Billy Bland, fellrunner extraordinaire and holder of many records. It is also the story of Borrowdale in the English Lake District, describing its people, their character and their lifestyle, into which fellrunning is unmistakably woven.

Filled with stories of competition and rich in northern humour, All or Nothing At All is testimony to the life spent in the fells by one of their greatest champions, Billy Bland.

Steve Chilton is a committed runner and qualified athletics coach with considerable experience of fellrunning, competing in the World Vets Champs when it was held in Keswick in 2005. He is a longtime member of the Fell Runners Association (FRA).

'A fascinating insight into the life of legendary fellrunner Billy Bland.'

RUNNING HARD

ISBN: 9781910985946 RRP: £9.99

For one brilliant season in 1983 the sport of fellrunning was dominated by the two huge talents of John Wild and Kenny Stuart. Wild was an incomer to the sport from road running and track. Stuart was born to the fells, but an outcast because of his move from amateur to professional. Together they destroyed the record book, only determining who was top by a few seconds in the last race of the season.

'Compelling and fascinating.' STEVE BIRKINSHAW

THE ROUND

ISBN: 9781910985366 RRP: £9.99

The Round is not only a history of the Bob Graham Round, but also an exploration of the what, why and how of this classic fell endurance challenge. After covering the genesis of the BGR in detail, it documents its development from a more-or-less idle challenge to its present status as a rite of passage for endurance runners. Interspersed with this detail of the round are extensive profiles of many of the event's most significant individuals: innovators, record setters, recorders and supporters.

'Unfailingly inspiring.' CLAIRE MAXTED

'Anyone with a love of running will find this a fascinating and enjoyable read.' ADHARANAND FINN

Michèle Roberts
NEGATIVE CAPABILITY
 A Diary of Surviving

Yesterday ended in disaster. Very late at night, I decided to write down everything that had happened; the only way I could think of coping.

So begins Michèle Roberts's intimate account of the year after her latest novel has been rejected by her then publisher. Daily life in London and France is evoked with sharp observation and sensuous detail. Reflecting on loss, love and family, she comes to a new acceptance and better understanding of the friendships which nurture her and make life worth living.

Michèle Roberts is the author of fourteen critically acclaimed novels, including Daughters of the House, which won the WHSmith Literary Award and was shortlisted for the Booker Prize, and, most recently Ignorance, which was longlisted for the Women's Prize for Fiction, 2013 and the Impac Award. Her memoir Paper Houses was a BBC Radio 4 Book of the Week.

LOUISE HULLAND STOLEN LIVES

Human Trafficking and Slavery in Britain today

136,000 people in the UK are in some form of slavery. This is big business, generating more than £120 billion annually for criminal organisations across the world.

Stolen Lives examines trafficking and slavery in Britain, hearing from those on the front line. Powerful and moving testimony from survivors reveals the individual stories behind the headlines and charts one young woman's terrifying and ultimately inspiring journey to freedom and independence. Finally, it shows us what we can do to make a difference.

Louise Hulland is a Sony Award winning journalist, TV & radio presenter and documentary maker. She has been investigating the plight of victims of modern slavery and human trafficking since 2010 and has reported widely on the subject in print and on radio and TV. Louise has more than a decade of experience in news, current affairs and documentaries. As a reporter and news producer for the BBC and ITN, she has worked on some of the biggest stories of the last decade.

'Modern slavery won't end without books like this and investigators like Louise.'

Volker Kutscher THE MARCH FALLEN

Gereon Rath #5

1933: A homeless veteran is found dead under railway arches in Berlin, apparently killed by an army dagger. Gereon Rath is brought onto the case just as the Reichstag mysteriously burns down. Unsettled by the Nazis' tightening grip, he and Charlotte Ritter must also contend with their political colleagues. The new Germany is frightening, but police work must go on even among book-burning and marching, rising paranoia and fear.

© Monika Sandel

Volker Kutscher studied German, Philosophy and History, and worked as a newspaper editor prior to writing his first detective novel. Kutscher now works as a full-time author and lives in Cologne.

Anders Bortne
SLEEPLESS

A thousand wakeful nights, one solution

Anders Bortne enjoys a good life in Oslo.

Happily married with two delightful children, he works as a speechwriter and has a cartoon strip in the newspaper. But Anders has been sleepless for sixteen years and it's taking a toll. No remedy has gone untested; not one has worked. Perhaps the solution is closer than he thinks...

Anders Bortne is a writer and musician who has written five acclaimed books and released eight albums. He has a law degree and currently works as a speechwriter for the Norwegian Minister of Justice. His debut as a writer came in 2005 with the novel A Good Band. His third novel, The Ice Man, was nominated for The Youth Critic's Prize in 2011. Bortne's trademark is combining the extraordinary with the trivial, and his work often revolves around family and identity.

Robbie Munro #6

Defence Lawyer Robbie Munro's wife has been stalked by a witness in a trial she is prosecuting. When the stalker is killed and Robbie is charged with murder his friends are only too willing to come up with schemes to prove his innocence. In the end though, will it be his enemies who make the difference?

William McIntyre is a partner in Scotland's oldest law firm Russel + Aitken, specialising in criminal defence. He has been instructed in many interesting and high-profile cases over the years and now turns fact into fiction with his Robbie Munro legal thrillers. He is married with four sons.

Also in the Robbie Munro series

Defence lawyer Robbie Munro has a habit of getting too involved with the criminals he represents. Forever flying by the seat of his pants, Robbie juggles a host of difficult clients, rubs shoulders with dodgy acquaintances and battles the legal system, all while trying to figure out fatherhood.

Tightly plotted, funny and fast-paced, these thrillers can be read alone or in series.

'A deft slice of Caledonian crime... rings viscerally true, thanks no doubt to McIntyre's lifelong experience in criminal law.' THE TIMES

A FRIENDSHIP IN LETTERS

Robert Louis Stevenson and J.M. Barrie

This November, correspondence between two of Scotland's most famous writers will be published for the first time. Though they never met, Robert Louis Stevenson and J. M. Barrie developed a warm friendship.

Until recently, Barrie's side of the correspondence was presumed lost. Since Dr Michael Shaw came across the manuscripts, he has been enchanted by these amusing, gossipy and revealing letters. The volume reunites Barrie's letters with Stevenson's and contextualises them through an engaging introduction.

Michael Shaw is Lecturer in Scottish Literature at the University of Stirling. In 2015, he won the Ross Roy Medal for excellence in research in Scottish Literature. His first book, The Fin-de-Siècle Scottish Revival: Romance, Decadence and Celtic Identity, was published by Edinburgh University Press in 2019.

'Delightful... witty, competitive letters, full of literary references and anecdotes.'
